

Nixon Prepares to Lead Fight for Civil Rights

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Amid indications he may play a leading role in Senate maneuvering over civil rights, Vice President Nixon discusses racial problems today with a Montgomery, Ala., Negro pastor.

Nixon, as the Senate's presiding officer in a strategic position to help or hinder a reported effort to bypass the Senate Judiciary Committee with a civil rights bill, the House may pass tomorrow. The Senate's own bill now is tied up in that committee.

The House, meantime, resumes debate on its bill after a one-day lull, with a states right fight in prospect. House leaders were working toward a final vote by tomorrow, but were said to be prepared for a Saturday session if necessary to finish action this week.

The Rev. Martin Luther King, a leader in Montgomery Negroes' long boycott of buses in that city, reports to Nixon on conditions in the South as he sees them.

King's conference with Nixon grew out of conversations they held in Ghana on the vice president's African trip last March. King had invited Nixon to visit the South to study what the Negro pastor called "the extent of violence" there so that Nixon might report to President Eisenhower.

Southern senators planned a caucus on what they can do in case of Nixon ruling is called for on routing the House civil rights bill.

They accepted Nixon's meeting with King as further evidence that he would side against them if the parliamentary situation arises.

Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP leader, said that when the House bill reaches the Senate supporters of President Eisenhower's civil rights program are considering raising a technical point that it should go directly to the calendar.

"This would have the effect of bypassing the Judiciary Committee."

If a point of order is raised, Nixon either could rule on it or could submit the question to the Senate. If he ruled the House bill should go before the Senate without committee consideration, this decision undoubtedly would be appealed to the Senate itself.

Any Nixon ruling to put the bill on the Senate calendar could touch off a Southern filibuster.

Space Travel Awaits Power Auxiliaries

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—There won't be any space travel until scientists perfect auxiliary power systems of rocket occupants of the craft alive, healthy and happy, three rocket experts said today.

Development of these systems will require about as much effort as the man engine of a rocket ship, D. G. Burdick, P. I. Wood and J. S. D'Abusco told the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Simple auxiliary power systems already are in use in rockets for steering, pumping fuel, sending radio signals and receiving instructions from control points.

However, the big space ships additionally will need independent power sources to supply heat, cabin pressure and even a substitute for gravity, said the three, from Aerojet-General Corp., Azusa, Calif., a producer of large rockets.

Once outside the gravitational pull of the earth, space travelers won't know which way is up unless they have some force to keep their feet on the deck, the dishes on the table and a means of making food and drink go down their throats.

Rocket builders at present are thinking about using small gas turbines, operating from the burning of liquid fuels, for these extra services, the engineers said.

500 Men of the Methodist Church to Meet Here

Probably the largest gathering of Methodist men ever assembled in Hope will meet at the Coliseum Friday night at 7:30 o'clock.

The Century Bible Class of Hope will be host to the Methodist men's classes of Texarkana, Prescott, Nashville, Gordon, and Arkadelphia. Some 500 men will be in attendance.

Each of the classes will contribute to the program, which includes quiet and group singing, and entertainment by Bobo the Magician of Texarkana. The Rev. Jess Hamilton of Arkadelphia will be guest speaker.

Foreign Aid Has Made Enemies, Senator Says

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Morse (Ore.) said today "a senseless waste of millions" on foreign aid has contributed to "a rising tide of anti-Americanism throughout the world."

Morse joined Sen. Long (D-La.) in an attempt to cut 390 million dollars from the $3,637,000,000 foreign aid bill over the opposition of both party leaders.

In the Senate's second day of debate, Morse described a committee recommended cut of 227 million dollars in administration requests as "but a split in the ocean of foreign aid waste."

Morse said the administration is seeking to "perpetrate a gigantic hoax on the Senate and the people of the United States" by its proposals for long-range, flexible spending authority.

And, he said, the administration is hiding from the people under the label of "top secret" the full story on its use of the funds.

"They are to be spent to supply arms and ammunition to nations from one end of the globe to another," Morse said. "They will be used to build up armed forces of both democratic nations and totalitarian nations."

He said Congress "should insist on a greater degree of public disclosure of the facts concerning the places where the money is spent and the purpose for which it is to be spent."

Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas told his colleagues he hopes for final action on the bill by Saturday night.

Johnson said earlier he thought it would be "dangerous" to make any "meat and cuts" in the authorization bill since a subsequent appropriations bill providing the money to finance the program will be "revised downward." Republican Leader Knowland of California took a similar position.

Sen. Long, leading the effort to cut 390 million dollars from the bill's total, filed a written report arguing that those opposing cuts "are too willing to tolerate widespread waste and inefficiency."

"In some instances, a single unit and inexcusable bureaucratic decision in Washington is costing this nation as much as 100 million dollars each year," Long contended.

Of the 68 nations receiving foreign aid assistance, Long said, "it is a mistake to conclude that more than a few would dare participate in a war between two great atomic powers."

Doesn't Want 4 Front Teeth for Father's Day

By MAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—All I don't want for Father's Day is four front teeth.

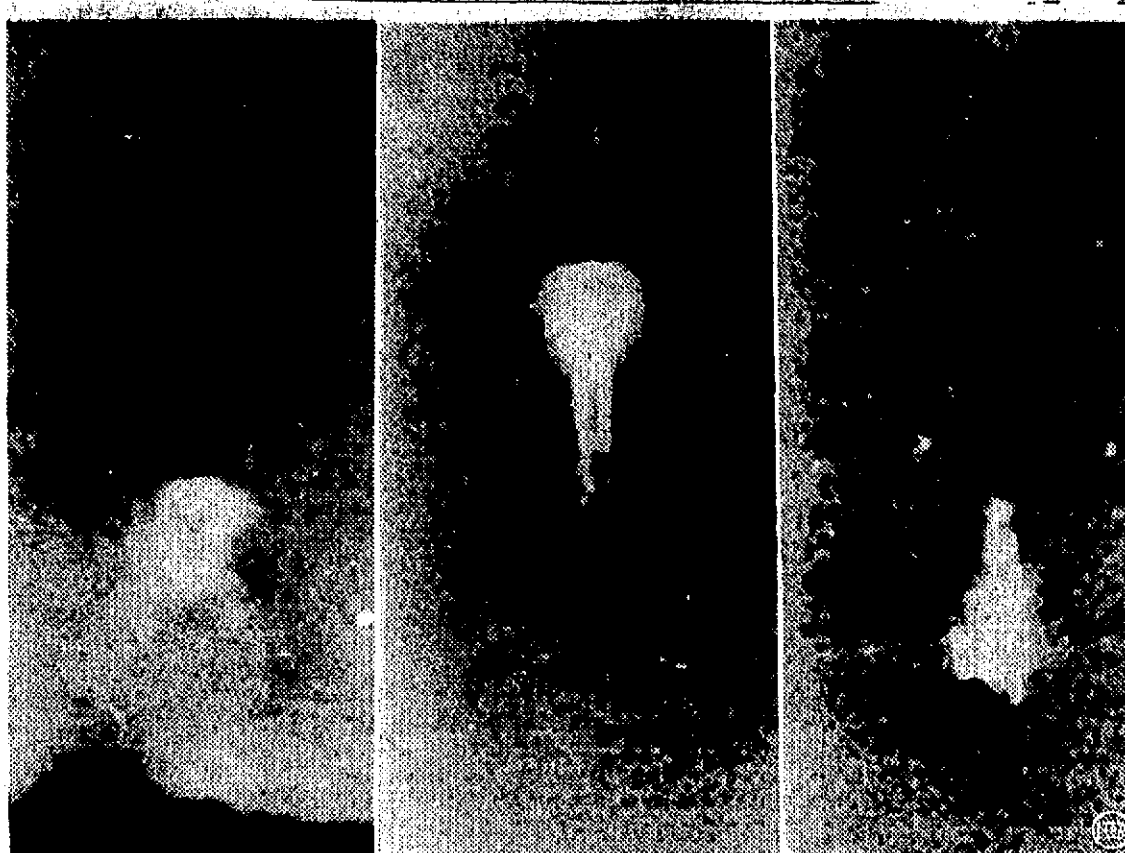

But come Sunday I'll be wearing four new store ones although at the moment I'm not sure whether I'll be wearing them in my face or my back pocket.

Other happy fathers will be proudly showing off the presents showered on them by their loyal kinkfolk: raincoats, dazling robes, beach shoes, peacock sport shirts, new power lawnmowers.

And what'll I be doing? Standing in front of a bathroom mirror, making faces at myself, and by nightfall I'll be able to ring the bell once loud and clear and say "Mississippi!"

When my dentist first proposed about a year ago to take out my four upper front teeth, I ran out of his office, figuring the guy either had delusions of grandeur or else was taking money from Moscow to sabotage the American War of Life.

However, said my heartless wife, "every time you get an ingrown toenail you think it is a conspiracy on the part of the medical pro-

Truck, Bike Collide, Youth Badly Hurt

James Boswell Jr., 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Boswell, was seriously injured late Wednesday in a bicycle-truck collision at the Fair Park entrance.

Young Boswell received severe cuts on the head and a possible slight fracture. His condition was reported to be very good today.

The truck, driven by Billy Butler, was traveling out of the park and young Boswell, pumping an enterer the park. The vision of both was completely cut off by the flowers at the park entrance.

Instead of taking the right, the youth on the bicycle turned left around the circle and met the truck head-on. Fortunately, the truck was not traveling very fast. Young Boswell was thrown to the pavement. The lad riding the bicycle with him escaped injury, being thrown clear.

City and State Police investigated. A Herndon-Cornelius Ambulance carried young Boswell to the hospital.

Jap Officer Said He Tossed Casings

MAEBASHI, Japan (AP)—A Japanese police officer said today a Michigan soldier has told Japanese authorities that he—not Specialist J.C. William Girard—tossed empty shell casings onto a U.S. army range before a Japanese woman scrap collector was shot and killed Jan. 30.

The officer, who would not be quoted by name or rank, said the statement of Specialist J. C. Victor Nickel of Inkster, Mich., that he scattered the empty shells "at Girard's suggestion" has been included in a secret police file on the shooting.

Light Storm Hits Through Louisiana

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—A lightning-packed storm, whipped by 80-mile-an-hour winds, belted Shreveport suddenly and without warning today, killing one and causing minor damage in almost every portion of the city.

Joe Smith, 55-year-old Negro, was killed during the blinding rain when he ran into the back of a trailer truck. Death was attributed to a brain injury.

The Weather Bureau said 3.54 inches of rain fell during the 24-hour storm, most of it in the first hour.

The disturbances hit suddenly about 6:30 p. m. and lasted until about 7 p. m.

Trees, power lines, trolley wires and signs were damaged throughout the city. Lightning slashed a 4,400-volt power line serving Highland Hospital. The hospital switched to emergency power and officials said no difficulties were experienced.

Many sections were blocked off by police when rainwater became so deep cars could not go through. Display windows in two large stores were knocked out.

About 25 homes bordering the city limits were surrounded by water and residents were unable to leave without getting soaked.

In one section water reached the height of a jeep window, and in Sunset Acres, a subdivision, the water covered automobile headlights.

Nine traffic accidents were attributed to the storm with only minor injuries reported.

Wet Weather in Mid-Cent

By The Associated Press
June's steady brand of wet weather showed no change to day after another day of storms pounded areas in the mid-continent.

The violent weather yesterday and during the night, extended from Texas to Iowa. Funnel clouds were sighted in parts of Texas, Missouri, South Dakota, eastern Kansas and southwestern Iowa. Heavy rain and hail drenched many sections, with strong winds lashing areas in the middle and lower Mississippi Valley.

More than 3½ inches of rain fell Shreveport, La., in a six-hour period. Wind gusts were clocked at more than 50 m. p. h. Similar blows were reported at Chattanooga, Ill. Heaviest rainfall hit areas in southwestern Missouri and most of Arkansas.

Scattered showers and thunderstorms were indicated in most areas east of the Mississippi River to the East Coast.

INJURIES FATAL

MEMPHIS (AP)—A 47-year-old carpenter died in a hospital here yesterday of injuries suffered while helping tear down an old house at Market Tree, Ark.

Lawrence Whitlow of Market Tree was injured fatally Tuesday when the porch to the old structure collapsed.

L. B. Talliaferro, foreman on the job, said Whitlow had been standing on the roof of the porch before it toppled. The victim was thrown beneath the porch when it collapsed.

Cancer Group Needs Material for Dressings

The surgical dressing chairman of the Hopstead County Cancer Society issued a call for old clean sheets or pillow cases for use in making dressings for cancer patients.

Either bring the sheets to Jim Cole's place or call Mrs. John Keck, chairman, and they will be picked up.

The Hopstead Chapter of the Cancer Society has made over 1,000 dressings in the past two months for use on cancer patients in this county. All the dressings stay in the area.

Organizations helping in the program are the Thimble Club and Home Demonstration Club of Centerville, Spring Hill, Liberty Hill, Melrose, Victory and VFW Auxiliary.

The dressings are made only when the county has a cancer victim that needs them. At the present time the organization is furnishing a patient that requires two dozen dressings a day and more will be needed in the future.

Your help by merely giving old sheets and pillow cases is now needed.

Funeral Home Has Change in Personnel

Announcement was made today of the appointment of James Barton as Manager of the Oakcrest Funeral Home of Hope. Mr. Barton is a native of El Dorado and has many years experience in the funeral business. He has served as manager of several large funeral establishments in Arkansas and Mississippi.

Mr. Barton will succeed Don L. Westbrook as the Manager at Oakcrest. Mr. Westbrook has resigned in order to accept a position on the road with a Dallas firm. He will maintain his home here in Hope.

Mr. and Mrs. Barton and their two daughters are members of the Baptist Church and have been active in church and civic affairs where they have lived.

"Before we decided to move to Hope, we checked both the city and the Oakcrest Funeral Home very carefully as we were also considering the possibility of moving to Memphis," Mr. Barton said today. "We decided on Hope, and I believe that the decision was a wise one. My family is delighted with the city, and I think the Oakcrest organization has a splendid future."

Mr. Westbrook told the Star today that he would continue to reside in Hope, but that he would be on the road selling funeral supplies for a large Dallas firm.

"It has been a real pleasure to serve as Manager of Oakcrest," Westbrook said. "I have seen it grow from a new business into a well established and sound concern, and it is still growing rapidly. I have enjoyed working with the fine people interested in the Oakcrest firm, and I welcome Mr. Barton to Hope."

Other employees of the Oakcrest firm are Vance Marcum, Monroe Robinson, Marguerite Pilkinton and Rowena Lowe. Carl Lee Bostle is the porter.

Officers of the firm are James H. Pilkinton, B. W. Edwards, Don L. Westbrook and John B. Lowe. Other members of the Board are Dewey Baber, Harrel Hall, Vincent Foster, Basil York, T. O. Crawford and Frank McArthur.

Mr. and Mrs. Barton will reside at 302 East Second Street, next to the Oakcrest Chapel.

Arkansas River Projects Get Committee Okay

By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Funds to continue work on the Arkansas River development program as recommended in President Eisenhower's budget were approved today by the House Appropriations Committee.

In so doing, the committee ignored the plea of an Arkansas-Oklahoma delegation which urged increases over budget amounts in order to speed the program.

Appropriations are continued in a public works money bill carrying funds for the year starting July 1.

The bill carries a total of nearly 42 million dollars for projects in Arkansas or of Arkansas interest in Oklahoma and Missouri.

In all but one instance, the committee approved the amount recommended by the budget.

One Arkansas item was eliminated from the Lower Mississippi River fund. That was $50,000 for planning work on the proposed bayou levee flood control and drainage project.

The committee made no expenditure for the deletion, but Rep. Norrell (D-Ark.) had said there was a division of opinion among local groups on the project.

Disarms Plan Rejects as Epected

HELSINKI (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev today rejected Western proposals for control of disarmament and nuclear weapon production as a "screen to mask plans to continue the arms race."

However, the Soviet Communist party boss told a two-hour news conference the Soviet Union would agree to the establishment of "international inspection posts in the Soviet Union, the United States, Britain and other countries if this would facilitate agreement on the banning of nuclear tests."

Khrushchev's remarks, made in answer to a reporter's questions, indicated a stiffening of the Soviet attitude of disarmament. Western delegates to the current negotiations in London of the U. N. Disarmament subcommittee had indicated that the Russians there were showing signs of wanting to reach at least a limited agreement with the West.

The Russian proposal for inspection posts is an old one, first put forward by the Soviets May 10, 1955, at the disarmament negotiations. The Russians proposed that international inspection teams be stationed at key ports, airports and road and rail junctions to check on movement of troops and military supplies.

Three months later Harold Stassen, the U. S. delegate to the arms talks, told newsmen that all five nations on the subcommittee—the United States, Russia, Britain, France and Canada—had agreed on ground inspection as a necessary part of disarmament.

Khrushchev told the news conference, which he held with premier Bulganin, that "no system of control can solve the problem of disarmament because it cannot prevent any state from planning aggression if it wants to."

Flash Floods Troublesome in Arkansas

By The Associated Press

Flash floods which followed torrential rains forced a few persons from their homes in at least two cities in north and west Arkansas today.

Water ran three to four feet deep down the streets of Van Buren, and Spadra Creek in Clarksville started running out of its banks for the third or fourth time this year.

The rain was measured at up to 3.60 inches in northwest Arkansas and some precipitation was reported in almost every section of the state. The general rain was expected to continue through today, the U. S. Weather Bureau at Little Rock said.

The Van Buren rainfall was unofficially estimated at three or four inches, although the nearest weather station, the Fort Smith Municipal Airport a few miles to the south, reported less than inch.

Residents said that the water was running up to the level of automobile windows at the height of the flash flood. However, the water receded rapidly after the rain stopped about 7 a. m.

Four or five Van Buren families were evacuated from their homes by fire department rescue units.

The Arkansas River, which recently caused hundreds of thousands of dollars damage, was on the rise again at Fort Smith but the Little Rock Weather Bureau forecast said that the river "would not change much." Other streams are expected to fall.

A few persons left their homes at Clarksville as Spadra Creek spilled six inches to a foot of water in a residential section of that northwest Arkansas City. Clarksville had 2½ inches of rain.

Two large Oklahoma reservoirs which hold back water that otherwise would flow into the Arkansas River were reported near capacity. Tenkiller Dam was reported at 663.14, some 3 feet below its limit. Some 1.75 inches of rain was reported in that area—about 50 miles west of Fort Smith—last night.

"Enjoy the corn on the cob," urged Frances. "You won't feel like eating any more for at least a few days."

I picked up a big golden ear, covered it with butter, salted and peppered it thoroughly, then took a big bite.

Crack! I suddenly felt an empty space in front of my mouth, and something popped out on the floor. It was one of my four front teeth.

"Now do you think your dentist is a fraud?" asked Frances. "No," I had to admit. "Any guy who can predict the natural life of a 40-year-old tooth to within 24 hours must be a genius."

"Well, at the office this morning, all my false friends with false teeth are grinning at the empty space in my gums and saying helpfully: 'Getting old, eh?'"

In addition it allowed $50,000 planning money for the long range Arkansas bank stabilization work, which is a part of the overall development program.

The Arkansas-Oklahoma delegation had suggested an increase in funds would permit completion of the program—which includes a 9-foot navigation channel—in 12 years, rather than some 15-17 years as now contemplated by Army Engineers.

Other Arkansas projects in the bill include: Construction, general—Cahoon $210,000; Red River levels below Denison $300,000; Bull Shoals Reservoir, additional power unit, $110,000; Greers Ferry Reservoir, $1,700,000; Fable Rock Reservoir, Mo., $17,000,000.

Stassen to Revive Arms Race Talks

By JOHN M. NIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Harold E. Stassen, chief U. S. disarmament negotiator, leaves for London today to resume talks with American allies and Russia on initial moves for ending the atomic arms race.

He was reported to be under instruction from Secretary of State Dulles to make carefully his private talks with Soviet Delegate Aleksandr Gromyko, the instructions are a result of Allied complaints and State Department fear that Stassen was going too far in his direct discussions with the Russian representative.

Other members of the five-power United Nations Disarmament subcommittee are Britain, France and Canada. Stassen has also been conferring with representatives of the other North Atlantic Treaty powers.

The object of the conference has been to reach an understanding on new disarmament proposals which the United States intends to present to Russia for a preliminary agreement.

In general, the plan proposes to reduce the size of conventional forces set up at least one series of reductions in the arms and possibly cut a halt to the manufacture of atomic weapons.

Plane Attack Called Just an 'Incident'

By C. YATES MCDANIEL

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Navy officials described as an isolated incident today the shots fired by a Communist Chinese shore battery at an American plane which they said apparently strayed off course and was damaged slightly.

They expressed the opinion, based on early dispatches, that the incident is not likely to produce any significant military repercussions.

The Navy announced yesterday that the plane, flying from the carrier Hornet, was "fired on and slightly damaged by Communist Chinese anti-aircraft" in the area of the Formosa Strait.

"It appears that the aircraft concerned was to the westward of its plotted position, being about eight miles off the coast when it was fired on," the Navy announcement added. It said the plane, otherwise unidentified, was on a routine training flight at the time, and returned quickly to the carrier.

First word of the incident came from Peiping radio, which said in a broadcast heard in London that the Hornet and four destroyers sailing from Hong Kong, "invaded part of the South China Sea within the territorial waters of China."

The Red Chinese version said planes taking off from the carrier "intruded into the Swatow area." Without saying where they came from, the Communists said four Nationalist Chinese planes joined the American planes, and two of them were shot down. The U. S. Navy announcement made no mention of Nationalist Chinese planes.

Navy officials here said that the incident could result in diplomatic representations—the Chinese charging a violation of their air space and the United States countering with a protest against an unprovoked attack on an American aircraft.

The messages from the 7th Fleet which had operational control of the force including the carrier Hornet, referred to yesterday's happenings as an "incident." The Hornet also reported that after the slightly damaged American plane returned to its mother carrier, the training exercises under way at the time of the incident were resumed.

International Ship Formation Ended

NORFOLK, Va., June 12.—Ships of the United States and 17 foreign nations broke formation today after a "broad international review display that represented perhaps a final fling of military grandeur for many of them."

From the precise anchorage stations that sprung them out along a double column 14 miles long they moved to close shoreward moorings.

For many of the ship—the old, the not-so-old and others outdated in the present day pace of jets, missiles and nuclear power—the

Chinese Reds Admit Killing 800,000

NEW YORK, June 12.—The New York Times said today that Mao Tse-tung has admitted 800,000 persons were "liquidated" by Chinese Communist security forces between October 1949 and the beginning of 1954.

A Times dispatch from Warsaw said Red China's top leader disclosed that figure in his much-discussed speech to party leaders in Peiping last February.

The text of Mao's speech has not been published, but a condensed version has been circulated among Polish Communists and parts of it previously have been reported by Western correspondents in Warsaw.

The latter included Mao's new Marxist theory that contradictions exist, not only in the ranks of the masses but also between the masses and the party. This represented a departure from Soviet doctrine which existed only under capitalism and vanished in a Communist society.

The Times dispatch, which said textual excerpts of Mao's speech now have been obtained, reported that other main points made by the Red leader included:

Stalin's failure to understand that contradictions, including those between the leaders and the people, exist under communism led to a rule of terror and the liquidation of thousands of Communists.

"In dealing with enemies it is necessary to use force," Mao said. "We in China also have used force to deal with enemies of the people. The total number of those who were liquidated by our security forces numbers 800,000. This is the figure up to 1954."

"Since then we are no longer using methods of terror. Instead we have substituted persuasion and education. If one persists in using the methods of terror in solving internal antagonisms, it may lead to transformation of these antagonisms into antagonisms of the nation-enemy type, as happened in Hungary."

The Times said the 800,000 figure given by Mao was believed to include mainly opponents of the regime killed in civil warfare after 1949, as well as persons executed on charges of spying and counter-revolution.

Asked about the Hungarian rebellion, the report said Mao replied:

"The Hungarian party was weak because it stressed the methods of repression instead of persuasion. The weakness of the party

Mayflower II Completes Historic Trip

PLYMOUTH, Mass., June 12.—Mayflower II, replica of the original Pilgrim ship, ended her long voyage from Plymouth, England, today.

She entered the harbor shortly after 11 a.m. towed by a Constellation craft and surrounded by a big fleet of yachts and other small craft.

Her skipper, famed windjammer master Alan Villiers, had furled sails just outside the harbor before attempting the narrow channel up to the mooring basin prepared for Mayflower off historic Plymouth Rock.

Dark skies and hazy weather detracted from the spectacle from a spectators point of view.

Church bells pealed a welcome as the 92-foot bark appeared came out during the tragedy of October when the party simply disappeared in a matter of a few days. The use of Soviet force was necessary because there was fear that the disintegration would not be confined to the party alone but to the whole state, though it is regrettable that the situation made such an intervention necessary."

Mayflower's arrival marked the end of a 5,000-mile, 54-day voyage retracing the historic trip of the Pilgrims in 1620.

The 160-ton square-rigged bark swung into a mooring buoy at Provincetown yesterday and at dawn today set her sails for the 24-mile trip to Plymouth, where the Pilgrims set foot on the new land.

Cmdr. Alan Villiers, a native of Australia who skippered the replica, said the only trouble experienced on the 53-day trip was a cracked boom during a storm about three weeks ago.

He said the boom was lowered to deck and repaired. "Altogether," he said, "Mayflower II sailed with a fair wind."

Thousands of spectators lined the shore to watch the craft come into Provincetown Harbor at the end of a tow line while a fleet of about 50 yachts and other craft went out to meet her at the harbor entrance.

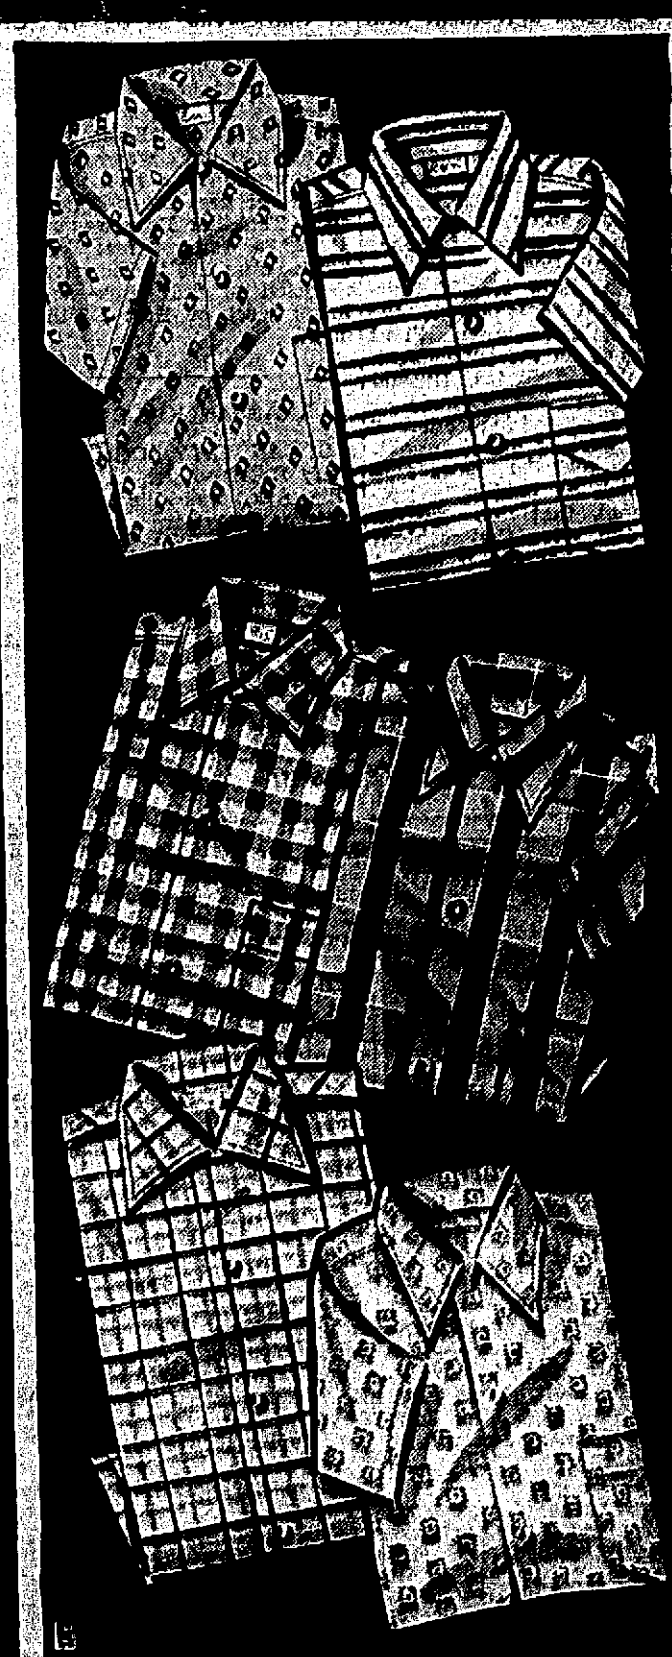

The Board of Directors of the Oakcrest Mortuary & Chapel, Inc., take pleasure in announcing the appointment of Mr. James Barton, a native of El Dorado, as Manager of the Oakcrest Funeral Home of Hope, Arkansas.

Effective June 15, 1957, Mr. Barton will succeed Mr. Donald L. Westbrook as Manager of the Oakcrest organization. Mr. Westbrook has resigned to accept other responsibilities on the road as a representative of a large Dallas corporation. The Oakcrest Board wishes Mr. Westbrook every possible success in his new position.

Mr. Barton and his fine family are moving to Hope from Greenwood, Mississippi, where he was manager of the leading funeral establishment in that city. He has had many years experience as a funeral director, and the Oakcrest organization is happy to welcome him to Hope and Southwest Arkansas and to have him as a member of the firm.

U. S. to Cut Staff in Hungary

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department is reported mapping a cut of up to 50 per cent in the 34-member U. S. legation staff in Communist Hungary.

This planned slash is about what the Soviet satellite government of Premier János Kadar demanded May 25, but the State Department told Hungary in a note released yesterday that it is not responding to the Hungarian demand.

The official American position is that the Kadar regime is making it "increasingly difficult" for American diplomats in Budapest. Officials cited harassment of visitors to the legation and arrests of some Hungarian employees of the legation.

The United States note said this country alone is in a position to determine the personnel which it uses in its mission abroad.

In its May 25 note the Kadar regime demanded that the American personnel working for the legation be cut correspondingly, in accordance with diplomatic custom. The Hungarian government could order out of the country any diplomat stationed there.

Signatures Are Filed With Secretary Of State

SIGNATURES and more signatures are filed with Secretary of State C. G. (Grip) Hall at the State Capitol by A. H. Washburn, Hope publisher and leader in a move to refer the sales tax increase to a vote of the people. Tuesday Mr. Washburn, who personally directed a petition campaign calling for the vote in the 1958 election, filed 52,000 and several hundred more on Wednesday, the deadline. Only 23,000 signatures were required to have the measure placed on the ballot. The drive is to reduce, by popular vote, the sales tax from three to two per cent. The Legislature increased the tax by one per cent at its last session.

DOROTHY DIX

Husband Spoiled By Working Wife

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have two teen-age children by a former marriage, both honor students, ambitious and attractive. I've supported them from babyhood.

I remarried six years ago, and things have been going very well up to now. I bought all household furniture and appliances, clothed and dedicated the youngsters.

A few months ago I was laid off, saying I had never given him money, so why should he give me any now. He says he isn't going to support my children; if they don't go to work they can leave.

WORRIED MOTHER

Dear Worried Mother: A more unpleasant portrait of a man has never been presented to me in a letter. Your husband is avaricious, miserly and downright mean.

Of course things went well while you were costing him nothing, equipping his house and buying groceries.

But the loss of your job turns you from an independent woman to a poor soul who must grovel for every cent, whose children are turned out and whose future is anything but secure.

You cannot make your husband see justice, sense or reason. Unless you do get to work again you'd better be a fool to pour your sweat and tears back into the household. I'd certainly advise independent living. What can you lose?

Dear Dorothy Dix: Unless I find a solution to my problem, my marriage of two years is doomed. We've already been separated twice. The problem is simply sex. The subject is repulsive to me. Should I see a doctor, marriage counselor or what?

Dear Francesca: By all means see a doctor, or consult a marriage medical care if needed. Meanwhile you might send a stamped, self addressed envelope for my list of books on Marital Adjustment.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I was a full-time mother, but now that the children are married I've decided to take it easier. Apparently my children have other ideas. They think I should be thrilled and privileged to baby-sit for days at a time or any night without warning.

Don't misunderstand me, I adore my grandchildren, but haven't the energy to take them in large doses.

Dear G. M.: There's no perfect solution to this problem. Some women complain because they're never asked to baby-sit, others, like you, find the baby-sitting road a rough one. Still others seem to strike a happy medium. As with most situations, a family confab would probably clear everything up.

Decision Opens New Possibilities

Rock 'n Roll Rise Blamed on 2 Writers

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Two guys responsible for many of the raucous rhythms coming out of the nation's juke boxes are Jerry Leiber and Stoller, both 23.

Their rock 'n' rollers have helped propel Elvis Presley and others to a national craze.

"Houn' Dog" . . . "Black Denim Trousers and Motorcycle Boots" . . . "Love Me" . . . these are a few of their hits. And there are more to come.

Leiber and Stoller contributed tunes to Presley's film "Loving You." Now they've got four ditties in the wiggle one's latest film, "Jailhouse Rock."

The Presley songs from the flickers are guaranteed to sell at least a million records and can go from three to five. "Houn' Dog" sold five. "Love Me" totaled 2 1/2 million and it was never put out as a single record! It was included as the lead song in an album.

Jerry and Mike are local boys transplanted from Baltimore and New York. Jerry, 23, is a red-haired, nervous and a singer writes the words. Mike, who has a high forehead, seems more calm and is married, writes the music and plays piano well enough to land a role in "Jailhouse Rock."

How did they meet? "I was going to Fairfax High in Los Angeles and writing some songs," Jerry recalled. "I was working with a drummer who put the notes down for me. He was kind of a slow worker, so he told me about a guy he knew at City college who could write music faster. He gave me the guy's address and I went and knocked on his door."

Their meeting may not have been as momentous as that of Gilbert and Sullivan, but it proved just as happy a blend of talents.

"We worked well together," Mike reported. "We'd sit around, me at the piano knocking out some riffs and Jerry pacing up and down tossing out phrases. We'd improvise the song as we went along."

First they invaded the blues field. Among their blues hits: "Hard Times," "K. C. Loving," "Bazoom," "Houn' Dog." When the blues field moved into the general market as rhythm and blues or rock 'n' roll, the boys got their big break. It came when Elvis heard a combo sing "Houn' Dog" in Las Vegas.

Trotsky Slayer Loses Freedom Bid

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The man has lost another bid for freedom. The 1st Circuit Court ruled yesterday Jacques Mornard cannot be freed from prison before his 20-year sentence is completed in 1960 because foreigners who enter Mexico illegally are not eligible for parole.

While Mornard was presented to the subcommittee at an unusual public hearing called by Sen. O'Mahoney of Idaho.

Attitude Is Blamed in Canada Vote

By MAJ HARRELSON

TORONTO (AP) — The basic cause of the Canadian election upset appears to be a widespread feeling that the Liberal party had been in power so long its leaders developed a high-and-mighty attitude.

That conclusion emerges in one form or another from almost every analysis of the surprise Conservative victory which ended the 22-year rule of the Liberals. The Tory leader, 61-year-old John Diefenbaker, also feels that his stress on this issue was the deciding factor.

"Public sentiment finally caught up with a government too long in power" is the way one newspaper editorial summed it up.

Another said the Liberal government of Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent "died of old age." And still another said "the St. Laurent government fell of itself, like an overripe fruit."

The issue, originated by Diefenbaker and expounded by him in one of the most strenuous campaigns ever under taken by a Canadian political candidate, was that the government had become crusty and autocratic. He said this was a treat to the parliament-role in 1953, after serving two-thirds of this sentence, under ordinary Mexican practice.

ary system and called for a change to prevent the elimination of the two-party operation in Canada.

Observers believe his campaign became more effective because the Liberals scoffed at his charges and brushed them off in a somewhat lofty manner, which many voters resented.

The extent of this resentment was not apparent even to the Conservative leaders. Like everybody else, they were fooled by public opinion samplings.

The revolt against the Liberals was nationwide, taking its toll all the way from the Maritime Provinces in the East to the Far West. Even in strongly Liberal Quebec, home province of the Prime Minister, the Liberals lost four seats.

The biggest sweep took place in Ontario. The Conservatives took 60 of the province's 85 seats, a gain of 28 over the number they won in the 1953 election.

McClellan Sees State Getting More Industry

DARDANELLE, (AP) — The start of work of the $4 million Dardanelle Dam project here has brought a prediction from Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark) that at least 1,000 new industries will come to the state within five years after navigation starts on the Arkansas River.

McClellan, one of four principal speakers at yesterday's ground-breaking ceremonies for the huge project, made the prediction to a crowd of more than 8,000 persons.

Dardanelle Dam is not scheduled for completion until 1957. But McClellan said development of the Arkansas River flood control, navigation and other projects but under way now and "nothing but another world catastrophe can stop it."

Other speakers included Sen. W. Fulbright (D-Ark); Maj. Gen. Emerson C. Itchner, chief of Army Engineers, and Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark), who was master of ceremonies.

General Itchner described how the completed dam would create a lake of nearly 60 square miles with a shoreline nearly 300 miles long. It will stretch 45 miles into five counties—Yell, Pope, Logan, Johnson and Franklin.

He said the dam's power generating capacity, if continuous, could light a city the size of Pine Bluff. Four units capable of generating 30,000 kilowatts each will be installed.

Hays, a long time resident of Russellville whose home now is at Little Rock, recalled the friendly rivalry which is traditional for the neighboring towns of Dardanelle and Russellville.

He held up a card and said, "I was given this in 1924. It designated me as general counsel for the Dardanelle and Russellville versus Russellville, and that is the way these two towns have worked together to get this dam."

Nevada Check Costello Link to Gambling

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Nevada gambling officials are conducting an intensive investigation to see if racketeer Frank Costello has any official interest in the Tropicana Hotel, newest of the gambling palaces in Las Vegas.

News of the investigation, which has been under way for a month, was pried out yesterday by a statement from the district attorney's office in New York that a note found in Costello's pocket, listing $651,284 in casino winnings, had been traced to the Tropicana Hotel, newest of the gambling palaces in Las Vegas.

Several hours later, Gov. Charles Russell acknowledged that the state has known for weeks that the sum in the note tallied with gambling winnings for a 24-day period at the Tropicana.

A member of the Clark County Licensing Board, which has immediate jurisdiction over the Las Vegas casinos, said the board knows who wrote the note—an auditor at the hotel.

But none of the Nevada officials would go as far as New York Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy who said the note, found when Costello was wounded by a gunman May 2, indicated that "a connection" existed between the racketeer and the hotel.

152 in Quest of 57th Nat'l Open Meet

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Amid some murmuring among the athletes about gloomily cropped greens and unimproved rough, a field of 152 started today in quest of the 57th National Open Golf Championship at historic Inverness Club.

Eight champions were on hand. The others ranged in age from 17-year-old amateur Jackie Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, to 62-year-old Bobby Cruickshank of Pittsburgh, who tied for the title 14 years ago but lost the playoff to Bobby Jones.

The Inverness course measures 1,919 yards of treacherous terrain, windswept as a rule, and studded with 117 traps and hundreds of trees. A small stream meanders across seven fairways.

"Old Man Par" is 70. But the experts are picking him to whip the field.

Everyone seems to think the new champ. at the end of the 72-hole medal play last which winds up with Saturday's 36-hole marathon, will come from a talented racket including four-time champion Ben Hogan, four-time runner-up Sam Snead, Masters champion Doug Ford, PGA champion Jack Burke whose dad tied for second here 27 years ago, and Peter Thomson of Australia, three-time winner of the British Open.

The big hazard is the small and slick putting surfaces. In yesterday's last free fling around the course, most of the field failed to find he answers.

One pro, after three putting for 12 feet, said: "The ball was a handle these greens is to hold the putter a bit above and behind the ball, then tap the ball lightly with the shadow."

Arkansas Men Killed in Plane Crash

BROKEN BOW, Okla. (AP) — Four Harrison, Ark. men died in the crash of a light plane near this east Oklahoma town late yesterday as they were returning to Arkansas from a business trip to Texas.

Killed were: William E. Hudson, 33-year-old president of the Sava-A-Stop Drug Corp., of Harrison and president of the Harrison Chamber of Commerce.

William R. Weedman, 31, sales director of the drug firm.

Dorvin Smith, 24, who worked for Sava-A-Stop as a company pilot and who was believed to be flying the plane when it crashed.

William J. Cromwell, 33, personnel director of the drug firm and former head football coach at Harrison High School, who had resigned his coaching post only last month in order to take the Sava-A-Stop job.

Officers said he four men left Harrison yesterday morning, flew to Dallas, and were returning late yesterday when the plane went down in a slight rain. It crashed in a pasture about 3½ miles east of Broken Bow.

Hudson is survived by his widow and four children; Cromwell by his widow and three children, Weedman by his widow and two children and Smith by his parents and several brothers and sisters.

Smith's father, Jay Smith, is manager of the Harrison Municipal Airport.

News Briefs

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Army Engineers here will issue June 17 an invitation for contract bids on construction of a one-story masonry building at England Air Force Base, Alexandria, La. Bids will be opened July 17.

CONWAY, (AP) — H. H. Manley, 53, of North Little Rock drowned yesterday while fishing in a boat on Lake Conway near here, officers said.

D. Gassaway and Dewey Lee Gassaway, who also were in the boat, told officers after they swam to safety that the boat capsized. The boy was recovered.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Selective Service headquarters here has announced that Arkansas' draft quota for July will be 180 men.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Republican Committee will meet here Monday morning to plan Arkansas' first statewide Republican primary next year. It is believed that it will be a restricted primary with one box to a county instead of one in each precinct.

Must Help Family of Man He Killed

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A 34-year-old longshoreman must pay at least $200 a month for the next 12 years to support the wife and five children of a man he shot during a card game argument.

The payments were fixed yesterday as part of the 10 years' probation on which Fred D. Hawkins was placed for shooting Roger Bland, 37, last Feb. 20. Bland was paralyzed by the bullet.

Hawkins pleaded guilty to an assault charge and offered to help the family. He will also spend 90 days in jail as a condition of probation.

120 Down With Food Poisoning
HAYDEN, Ark. (AP) — At least 120 men working on a new smelter in this central Arizona town were hospitalized today with food poisoning.

The men were sent to hospitals in half a dozen surrounding towns. None were reported critically ill.

Doctors traced the illness to box lunches given workers at a construction camp run by the contractor.

Graham May Continue TV Appearances

By CHARLES MERGER

NEW YORK (AP) — Reports circulate that the Rev. Billy Graham may continue regular television appearances after his two remaining Saturday night programs scheduled from New York's Madison Square Garden over the ABC-TV network.

On the basis of his two televised programs from the Garden, one is struck by the extraordinary facility he and his advisers have displayed in bringing an hour's revival service to the medium of television. Technically, it is a smooth production.

The lighting is theatrical in effect, carefully contrasting black and white. The principal camera coverage for the home audience is from a theater box angle, with carefully timed fades into audience and platform closeups. Long shots of the Garden are interspersed dramatically.

The opening music emphasizes the themes of reverence and power; it has none of the syncopation that marked the revivals of such past evangelists at Billy Sunday.

Graham's prayer is notably brief. As a clergyman once told this viewer, "I sometimes think that no one but God listens to a long, rambling prayer and sometimes I think that even His attention wanders."

Graham's sermon is simply constructed. Saturday he said in effect, "You have sinned . . . You must repent . . . You must believe . . . You can be saved." Compared to the noted evangelists of the past his manner and delivery are restrained. Graham has said that his restraint is purposeful because he does not wish his personality to divert attention from his message.

Since Graham has consciously selected television as a medium to carry his message, he is in the position of having his religious service judged as a program and himself as a personality. In these respects one can objectively judge his TV appearances from Madison Square Garden as marked by great technical proficiency and he personally as conveying great sincerity.

Religious experience is highly subjective, however. There are viewers, including this one, who are made vaguely uneasy at watching others' religious experiences on the massive communication of the television screen.

We should remember, however, that the adaptation of mass communication techniques to a spiritual cause is not something new. In 1937, spiritual revivalists in ages have made use of the most recent methods available to them.

DEPARTMENT STORE

A COAT IN (RECORD) TIME—Wielding their brushes with dispatch, a team of painters flits away at this Wausau, Wis., two-story house in a demonstration calling attention to national "Clean-Up, Paint-Up and Fix-Up" month. They completed the job in the snappy, and possibly record, time of 1 hour, 31 minutes and 18 seconds.

THE STORY: Beth Shelton, mother of Kurt's child, the new "substitute doctor" at the Bayard clinic, finds the Stanfords, their next-door neighbors, interesting. They Stanfield has been planting trees to form a "spite fence." Beth says, because she has been watching what goes on at the house next door.

CHAPTER X

Garde glanced at the clock—at Kurt Lillard's clock. He'd won it in a race—a little brass name plate on it said that he had. The face and the mechanism were set into a wheel of polished wood. Kurt Lillard had looked at that clock a dozen times a day, until that day when...

In two short weeks, he'd come to know that other man pretty well, from the things said to him by the personnel and by the people who came into his office.

"But Dr. Kurt..." he was constantly being told.

And Garde had developed a routine reply. "Yes, that was his way. Now let's try mine..."

Kurt Lillard was more considerate of the mothers. Kurt "soft-soaped" those mothers more, and fed their vanity. Kurt allowed his nurse to button his cuffs—Garde did his own. Kurt could be "talked out of" things.

Garde was better at shots—they told him that, too. And the children liked him much better. Kurt, it seemed, liked to tease. Well, as Garde said, one man's way differed from another's. He buzzed for the first patient and went to work.

There was a boy of five, a little girl of 30 months, their limbs were thin, their eyes were dull and their skin pasty. The boy had bad teeth, and both children had sore mouths. It angered Garde to look at them.

He sternly lectured the parents. He mentioned their obligations; he mentioned his own. He outlined the present physical condition of the children, using scientific as well as lay terms. He stressed the lowering of resistance to disease. "You would be shocked to have these children contact T. B. or polio..."

"I sent them here for those new polio shots," the mother reminded him.

"Yes, I know you did. But I don't doctor that way, Mrs. Wolf. I consider the whole picture, and I try to care for the whole child. I feel it is my obligation to point out to you that these children are not in good shape. They need a year's concentrated care, and perhaps even then we cannot repair the damage which neglect and carelessness have already done."

"What do you mean, neglect?" cried the father loudly.

"It's the only opinion I can form."

"I wish Kurt Lillard was here!" "So do I!" said Dr. Shelton firmly. "For his sake and mine. But since he isn't, I'll suggest, as treatment, that you take the children to St. Louis, to Children's Hospital there, for tests and care. I'll make the arrangements."

"But, doctor..." "I know I am being blunt, but I'm frightened, and I hope I can make you frightened, too."

"Could they die?" "They could. Your boy is about ready to start school. His first case of measles could be fatal. You've meant to be good to them, Mr. Wolf, but..."

Finally, he got his point through to the parents, but it took time and strength.

Mr. Wolf, a rotund man with thinning hair, extended a soft and pudgy hand to Garde. "I guess you know your job, Doc," he said in a forgiving tone. "Maybe the kids weren't getting a full break. I got a little riled at the way you came at us about neglect, but I guess you're having your troubles troubles tryin' to fill Kurt Lillard's shoes. Maybe you'd like a tip on how he would have handled this."

Garde stiffened noticeably, but Wolf did not see.

"He'd have saved us up a little with his own brand of soft soap. Told us we were too good to the kids, that we did too much—things like that. See?"

"I see," said the other doctor. "Now I hope you'll keep that appointment to-morrow at Children's."

"Oh, sure, we'll drive down to-night. And if you were Kurt, I'd suggest your goin' with us."

"Would he have gone," asked Garde curiously.

"He might. He liked a good time. Poor devil."

It was 3 o'clock. He went on to the staff meeting in the doctor's lounge. Dr. Cornel had an emergency problem, which the men discussed, and handled. Garde thought it expedient to mention this matter with the Wolfs.

"The father told me that Lillard would have handled the matter differently."

"My only suggestion..." offered Windsor, then broke off as if to reconsider that suggestion.

"Say it!" urged Garde.

"I had nothing to do with you," Windsor assured him. "But had Kurt stayed on the job—been free to, I mean." He flushed at hearing the word "free," shook his white head and went on. "Selma Wolf would have been bringing those kids in regularly for their checks, and this condition would have developed. I hate to admit it, but I don't have Kurt's appeal to women!"

The other men laughed, not with too much humor.

"You did the right thing, Shelton," said Cornel.

"He had a habit of always doing the right thing," drawled Ruble.

Garde shook his head. "It isn't hard to establish that kind of record in a couple of weeks," he reminded his colleagues.

This time the laughter was hearty.

Regime in Canada Set for Change

OTTAWA (AP) — Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent's Liberal Cabinet headed into Ottawa today to decide what is expected to be its short-lived future.

The Conservative victory — 110 seats to 103 for the Liberals — in Monday's general election left both parties without a majority in the 565 member House of Commons.

It also left St. Laurent with several possible courses of action, but most observers believed he would resign later this week and advise Gov. Gen. Vincent Massey to call on Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker to form a government.

St. Laurent could continue in office until parliament is convened, but he could not win a vote of confidence without support from the 25 Socialist members. That support seemed highly unlikely.

St. Laurent also could defer his resignation until after the official election returns are filed, or he could call for a new election to break the parliamentary stalemate. Legal experts said the latter course probably could be challenged as unconstitutional.

The probable course appeared to be formation of a government by Diefenbaker, a breaking spell to permit his Cabinet to get acquainted with their new jobs and then a summoning of Parliament to hear the Conservatives' proposals on legislation.

From then on, Diefenbaker's government could be toppled at any time if the opposition combined. Diefenbaker than would ask dissolution of the Commons and new elections. Weeks of uncertainty appeared in prospect for the 23rd Parliament.

St. Laurent scheduled informal talks with his cabinet today and set a formal meeting for tomorrow. Nine of the 17 Cabinet members met defeat at the polls.

St. Laurent and Diefenbaker talked for five minutes by telephone yesterday but the subject of their conversation was not disclosed. They will meet here Friday and it is after that session that Diefenbaker is expected to be asked to form a government.

If Diefenbaker organizes a government, the 102-seat Senate, whose members are appointed for life, may become a parliamentary focal point.

Diefenbaker undoubtedly would make some changes, including the filling of 16 Senate vacancies. But he still would be faced with an overwhelming Liberal majority which could delay his government's legislation. The Senate now is made up of 78 Liberals, 5 Conservatives, 2 independents and 1 independent Liberal.

Another U. S. Turncoat Is Leaving China

HONG KONG (AP) — The U. S. consulate general today said American turncoat Andrew Fortuna of Iowa, Mich., is leaving Red China Saturday.

Fortuna was one of 21 U. S. soldiers captured in the Korean War who refused repatriation after the fighting stopped in 1953. Seven of the 21 previously returned to the United States and one died in Red China.

The most recent returnee was Samuel David Hawkins of Oklahoma City, who crossed into Hong Kong last Feb. 27.

The Defense Department ordered dishonorable discharges for all the turncoats Jan. 25, 1956. The Supreme Court subsequently ruled that because of this they could not be prosecuted for their actions while in the armed forces.

Fortuna told an interviewer in 1955 he had been brought up in a poverty stricken area of Detroit. "We often did not have enough food in the house," he said, "and I saw breadlines in the streets. In that prison camp where I had time to think I wondered and puzzled what had caused all that."

"Marxist philosophy solved my basic problems."

Fortuna probably will be on his way back to the United States a few days after his arrival here.

Cites Opportunities South Offers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The South in general and Arkansas in particular affords the world's number one opportunity for business and development, David Ellenthal said here today.

The former Atomic Energy Commission chairman and Tennessee Bailey Authority director called Arkansas the greatest spot in the world for the creation of hydroelectric power but that it is undeveloped.

Ellenthal in Arkansas to speak before the National Citizens Planning Conference, said it would be 25 years before atomic energy competes with water and coal power in this area.

The reason he gave was that electric power and coal costs are declining while the cost of producing atomic energy for peaceful uses is going up.

The state and the South's proximity to gas fields and the assurance of cheap dependable power make them ideal for business expansion and development, he said.

Uranium, the raw material for atomic energy, appears in tiny quantities in the human body.

Wants Trouble at Booneville Investigated

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Pulaski County Sen. Artie Gregory today filed a resolution with the Legislative Council calling for a study of charges that a "dictatorship" exists at the Booneville State Tuberculosis Sanatorium.

Gregory, a former patient at the sanatorium, asked that the study be made by an impartial committee composed of representatives of the council, business and professional groups and the American Medical Society.

The resolution will be presented to the council June 21.

The Booneville sanatorium has been the target of a recent attack by Dr. George Rodke, who was discharged as medical director of the institution.

Dr. Rodke charged that the sanatorium was under a dictatorship.

Planners Are Warned for Highway Plan

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A Louisville newspaperman has warned the National Citizens Planning Conference that in their new federal interstate highway program Americans can "create colossal mess or they can perform a series of near miracles."

The admonition came from Grady Clay, real estate and building editor of the Courier Journal. Clay was one of several who discussed various aspects of the interstate program at yesterday's sessions of the 3-day conference.

The same 300 delegates plunged into their final round of sessions today.

William B. Anshutz, editor of Look Magazine, spoke on "The People Are Deciding It Today," a discussion of "gearing the people's will to development."

This afternoon the conference scheduled a mass move to Winnetka, the Whitworth Rockefeller Park, near farm to hear David E. Lilienthal, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission and the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Atomic Energy commission of 1959, citing the Arkansas River Valley as "a case in point."

At yesterday's sessions, Clay and several others called for beautification as part of the highway program.

Clay declared that "we have here the spectacle of billions of dollars being spent for public highway architecture, and yet few people have grown concerned about anything but how many cars per hour will it handle?"

"Consequently, we are getting a full share of dully dull, monotonous, uninspired architecture laid out across the nation,"

Clay suggested highway designers should mix garden spots, parks and "green belts" into their plans for expressways through cities.

and that he was in difficulty because of his support of two Filipino exchange doctors who were fired earlier.

U. S. Accuses Russia for M. E. Trouble

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States today accused the Soviet Union of waging a campaign of "subversive intervention" in the troubled Middle East.

This government, in a note delivered to the Soviet Ministry of foreign affairs in Moscow, also rejected "an unnecessary" earlier Soviet proposal for a Big Four declaration against using force in the Middle East.

The Soviet proposal was made by Moscow in notes to the United States, Britain and France and dated April 19.

Diplomats said Britain and France also have delivered new notes in Moscow on the Middle East. These big three notes were said to be "parallel although not identical."

The U. S. note took sharp issue with a Soviet assertion that its aim about Middle East conditions stemmed from the close proximity of the area to Soviet territory.

"It may be generally observed that it is just those countries lying closest to the Soviet Union which have been most vigorously attacked in the recent Soviet campaign of threat and intimidation aimed at the legitimate efforts for self defense undertaken by the nations in question," the note said.

"Public attacks upon sovereign governments of these states, together with subversive intervention in their domestic affairs, give them good cause to seek the strengthening of their security."

"The United States challenged Moscow to work through the United Nations to sincerely desire to contribute toward the establishment of peace and security in the Middle East." The note added that Moscow could work with other nations through the United Nations to attack solution "of fundamental problems in the area among which the Arab-Israeli dispute is outstanding."

Gathings Raps Secretary of Agriculture

BY GORDON BROWN
WASHINGTON (UP) — Arkansas Rep. E. C. Gathings (D) gave Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Marvin L. McLean a pretty sharp tongue lashing the other day before the House Agriculture Committee.

It came about after McLean had stated the department's opposition to a bill by Gathings and others aimed at giving flooded but cotton farmers a chance to move their acreage allotment elsewhere and try again.

Gathings had entered the meeting with the impression that the department favored the bill, also sponsored by Reps. Mills (D-Ark) and Albert (D-Okl.).

Then when McLean spoke up and killed all chances of rushing the measure through Congress. Under the proposal, a farmer with a 1957 allotment for any crop under the farm program but whose plantings were ruined by flood, drought or disaster could transfer his allotment to land elsewhere in the same county or a nearby county.

Without such a provision the farmer is helpless to use his allotment this year.

McLean said the department was sympathetic to the problems of the farmers in the disaster area but...

The bill would let a "dangerous precedent" be set, he said. It would make the federal government something of a crop insurance or relief program, would aggravate the existing problems and would result in increased national indebtedness.

Says Nixon Now Enemy of Kent

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Chairman Roger Kent of the Democratic State Central Committee says Republican Gov. Goodwin J. Knight has changed from Vice President Nixon's "biggest enemy" into Nixon's "hatest man."

Both Knight and Nixon "hate and fear" Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.), Kent told a Democratic legislators' caucus yesterday.

Knowland has announced he will retire from the Senate in January 1959. Knowland has not said yes or no to the speculation he will run for governor.

Paratrooper Suffocates at Ft. Bragg

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (AP) — Medical authorities say an Iowa paratrooper suffocated during the more than three hours he dangled from a troop carrier plane over this military post yesterday.

Pfc. Wayne H. Flugum, 23, Lehigh, Iowa, was dead when he was cut loose from the huge C123 transport as it skimmed only inches above a runway, greased with foam to cut down possible injury.

During the preceding three hours, three crew members had worked valiantly to free Flugum, whose parachute became entangled in the static line left by previous jumpers during a routine airborne exercise.

The medical report said he had been dead from 30 minutes to two hours before his body was landed. But the report did not say whether the trooper suffocated from being entangled in his shroud lines, or from the force of slipstream air under the plane.

Flugum was about the 18th to some 30 paratroopers who jumped from the plane.

The crewmen almost pulled the pleading Flugum to safety once, but the slipstream pulled him from their grasp.

A jet plane tried, to help by flying under the troop carrier and nudging the dangling paratrooper with a wing tank.

The idea was to nudge him from under the plane and make it easier to pull him up.

However, Flugum at that time was either unconscious or dead and the three working to pull Flugum into the plane were Lt. Gordon Havlicek, Two Rivers, Minn., co-pilot; Sgt. Salvador Zumudio, San Antonio, Tex.; and A-2.C. George Nash, Kofia, Kan. The pilot, Lt. Thomas Ansberry, Urbana, Ohio, kept the plane circling over the drop zone.

MAKE PAPPY HAPPY

What better way to make pappy happy than feed him good, pamper him and let him play golf with the gang or just loaf around the house on his special day. Make it a better day for yourself, too, ladies by planning your main meal around a delicious ham and quick and easy to fix foods from Childs. If you're puzzled about a gift for dad, visit your Childs Home Center department and shop for a variety of gifts... at Childs low prices.
